

Policy Placement – Indigenous

Summer 2018, North Bay

Want to make a difference in Northern Ontario?

Northern Policy Institute is seeking two (2) full-time Summer Policy Analysts/Researchers for a 16 week placement with a host organization in North Bay. While analysts with particular expertise are most welcome, an interdisciplinary approach and the capacity to work across subject areas is expected and required.

The focus of these placements will be to explore the nature and distribution of the Indigenous population in Ontario's northern regions, with a special focus on reciprocal transparency and accountability between and within governments and nations. In addition to descriptive statistics the placements will be expected to assess and explore potential policy implications and apply comparative evidence to support proposed policy changes, solutions, or directions.

While applicants with local First Nation, Metis or Inuit heritage are preferred, all candidates with a passion and interest in this area should apply. Knowledge of and experience with private and public data sets is essential as are skills and experience with data presentation and analysis using tools like Excel, SPSS or Stata. University or college students with some practical experience are preferred.

Northern Policy Institute appreciates all expressions of interest; only candidates who are to be interviewed will be contacted. The salary range for this position is $16-$18 per hour. Internships will begin 7 May, 2018 and end 24 August, 2018.

Deadline for applications is 31 January, 2018.
