

Policy Analyst – Housing Demand Summer 2026, Kenora

Are you eligible for Canada Summer Jobs funding (see below)? If your answer is yes - Northern Policy Institute is seeking a full-time Policy Analyst – Housing Demand for a 16-week position in Kenora, Ontario. This position is ideal for those seeking to build firsthand experience about real world policy research. How it is done, how it is crafted, and to whom and how it is communicated.

Over the past two decades the movement out of the heavily urbanized Greater Toronto Area has been gathering steam. This trend complicates our collective response to the housing crisis in that setting housing targets based on current demand will understate the need in Northern Ontario and overstate it in the GTA. This position will explore population trends and the implications for housing policy not just this year but over the next two decades. Economics, statistics, public administration, political science, or business students may find this position especially rewarding.

Candidates are asked to provide a one-paragraph statement as to why they have applied for the position in this specific community. Applications that do not include this information may not be considered.

Northern Policy Institute appreciates all expressions of interest; only candidates who are to be interviewed will be contacted. The salary range for this position is $20-$22 per hour for Bachelor or College level candidates and $23-$25 per hour for Master level candidates. Placements will begin 04 May 2026 and end 21 August 2026.

An increment of $500 over and above the base salary is available for those who can fluently speak Anishinabemowin, Oji-Cree, Cree, Michif or French as well as English in a professional setting.

Deadline for applications is midnight eastern time 15 December 2025. Interviews will be held during the first week of January 2026. Please forward a cover letter, resume, and references to hr@northernpolicy.ca with Summer 2026 Kenora, Policy Analyst – Housing Demand in the subject line.
